SIMPLE PRESENT

The 'Simple Present '(or Present Simple), is one of the most common times in English. This is usually used to talk about events occurring with some frequency.

The following examples will be used in the explanation. Remember that you will see the third person since in this change.

They work in an office. He works in an office.

WHAT IS IT FOR?

- · This tense is used to express facts or general truths.
- \cdot We also use the present simple to talk about routines or habits. In this case usually they accompanied by adverbs of frequency.

HOW TO FORM?

It is formed with the base form of the verb. When we talk about the basic way we refer to the infinitive without the preposition 'to ', ie, the verb 'to eat' form base would 'eat'.

AFFIRMATIVE: To form the affirmative put the base form.

They work in an office.

They work in an office.

We should note that the 3rd person singular (he, she, it) ends in 's', ie, we add an 's' to the base form.

He works in an office.

I works in an office.

NEGATIVE: To form the negative need the auxiliary 'do'. We can find both the full form 'do not' as the contracted form 'do not'

They do not work in an office.

They do not work in an office.

To form the negative in the third person, having to add the 's' what use is the auxiliary 'does not' or contracted form 'does not'

He does not work in an office.

I does not work in an office.

* Remember that adding the auxiliary 'does', we have included third party brand, so the main verb remains unchanged (i.e. works)

INTERROGATIVE: To form the interrogative we must invest the auxiliary and the subject, ie, we reverse the auxiliary 'do' and the subject.

Do you work in an office them?

Do they work in an office?

We do the same in third person, but in this case the auxiliary invest 'does'.

Does he works in an office?

Does he work in an office?

* Remember here also that adding the auxiliary 'does', and we have included third party brand, so the main verb remains unchanged (i.e. works)

SHORT ANSWER: To give short answers we must use the corresponding auxiliary. Remember that short answers are very common because when we talk we avoid repeating what has already been said

Do they work in an office?

Yes, they do / No, They Do not

Does he work in an office?

Yes, he does / No, I does not

* You must keep in mind that we use completely in the affirmative short answers, while we use the contracted form in the negative short answers.

WHAT SHOULD I REMEMBER?

The important thing to consider is the following:

- ✓ The form of this coincides with the base form of the verb, except in the third person (he, she, it) where you add an 's'
- ✓ To form the negative and interrogative need of auxiliary.
- ✓ The simple present is usually combined with adverbs of frequency.

Furthermore, we must bear in mind that in the third person, by adding the 's' must follow certain rules of spelling.

1. Most verbs remain the same

I.e. work - works

2. Verbs ending in 's' or a similar sound (sh, x, ch) we must add 'es'.

I.e. match - matches

3. Ending in 'y' and are preceded by a consonant, we must change the 'and' and add 'ies'.

I.e. cry - cries

4. When the verb ends in 'or' we have to add 'es'

I.e. go - goes

* You must keep in mind that these rules are the same as used to form the plural.

PAST TENSE OF REGULAR ACTION VERBS

DEFINING PAST TENSE VERBS

The English language has three basic tenses: past, present, and future.

Within these three verb tenses, there is a progressive form to indicate ongoing action, a perfect form to indicate completed action, and a perfect progressive form to indicate ongoing action that will be completed at some definite time.

Example:		>
----------	--	---

	Simple Form	Progressive Form	Perfect	Perfect Progressive Form
Past	sang	was singing	had already sung	had been singing
Present	sing	am singing	have already sung	have been singing
Future	will sing	will be singing	will have already sung	will have been singing

FORMING PAST TENSE VERBS

To form past tense verbs, it's helpful to remember these rules:

- Simple Form: Although most past tense verbs end in -ed, certain verbs have irregular past tense forms that do not follow this rule.
- Past Progressive Form: Use was/were with the verb form ending in -ing.

- Past Perfect Form: Use had with the past participle of the verb.
- Past Perfect Progressive Form: This tense is most often created by using had been and the present perfect of the verb (most often the verb form ending in -ing).

Be, have, and do are the most commonly used irregular verbs, but has a large list of English verbs with irregular past tense forms. Unfortunately, memorizing these irregular verbs is the only way to completely master the past tense.

THE SIMPLE PAST - IRREGULAR VERBS

Irregular verbs do not make their past tense by adding - d or - ed or by changing y to i and adding ed. Instead, they make their past forms in several ways:

1. For some irregular verbs, the simple and past forms are the same. Here are a few examples:

Simple	Past
beat	beat bet	bet
burst	burst
cost	cost cut	cut hit	hit hurt	hurt
let	let put	put set	set

2. For many irregular verbs, the simple and past forms have different vowels. Here are a few examples:

Simple	Past
arise	arose become	became begin	began break	broke choose	chose dig	dug draw	drew eat	ate fall	fell feed	fed find	found fly	flew forget	forgot freeze	froze get	got give	gave hide	hid hold	held know	knew lead	led lie	lay meet	met ride	rode ring	rang rise	rose take	took tear	tore weave	wove

3. For many irregular verbs, the simple verb and the past form have different endings (and often different vowels):

Simple	Past
bend	bent
bring	brought build	built buy	bought catch	caught creep	crept
do (does)	did feel	felt have (has)	had lose	lost
make	made mean	meant pay	paid say	said
seek	sought sleep	slept spend	spent stand	stood teach	taught tell	told think	thought

4. A few irregular verbs have more than one past form. Here are a few examples:

Simple	Past
dream	dreamed, dreamt fit	fit, fitted
kneel	knelt, kneeled
leap	leaped, leapt
light	lit, lighted shine	shone, shined
speed	sped, speeded
spit	spit, spat
wake	woke, waked

5. For a few irregular verbs, one past form tends is more common in American English and a different one is more common in British English:

Verb	American	British
burn	burned	burnt
lean	leaned	leant
learn	learned	learnt smell	smelled	smelt spoil	spoiled	spoilt

6. The common irregular verb go has a completely different past form:

Simple	Past
go	went

Special Notes:

- The simple and past forms of read have the same spelling, but they are pronounced differently: 1. simple: read (pronounced the same as reed) past: read (pronounced the same as red)
- There are no easy rules to help you learn the past forms for irregular verbs quickly. Unfortunately, you will 2. have to memorize them!

THE SIMPLE PAST - REGULAR VERBS

Regular verbs make their past tense by adding - d, - ed, or (if the verb ends in a consonant + y), changing the y to i and then adding - ed.

Examples:

ed:

Add -d: baked, cared, eased, filed, greased, hated, liked, piled, raced, seized, smiled, typed, wheezed, whined

Change y to i and add apply / applied; bury / buried; cry / cried; fry / fried; hurry / hurried; marry / married; pry / pried; spy / spied try / tried vary / varied worry / worried

Add -ed: Other regular verbs:

FUTURE SIMPLE (WILL)

Will future expresses a spontaneous decision, an assumption with regard to the future or an action in the future that cannot be influenced.

FORM OF WILL FUTURE

The simple future tense:

This page will present the simple future tense:

- √ its form
- ✓ and its use.

The forms of the simple future:

The simple future is formed as follows:

will = II

The affirmative form of the simple future:

Examples:

- ✓ I think I'll buy a new computer.
- ✓ I will open the door. Someone is ringing the bell.

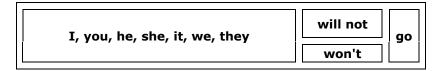

The interrogative form of the simple future:

Examples:

- ✓ Will you buy a computer?
- ✓ Will you go to the party?

The negative form of the simple future:

WILL NOT = WON'T

Examples:

- ✓ I will not stay at home if I finish the homework.
- ✓ I won't visit Big Ben if I go to London.

THE USE OF THE SIMPLE FUTURE

We use the simple future for instant decisions.

Example: "I've left the door open; I'll close it."

We use the simple future, when we predict a future situation.

Example: "She'll pass the exam. She's hardworking"

We use the simple future with: "I (don't) think...", "I expect...", "I'm sure...", "I wonder...", "probably"

Example: "It will probably rain tonight", "I wonder what will happen?

We use the simple future in conditional sentences type one.

Example: "If I have enough time, I'll watch the film."

THINGS TO REMEMBER

- 1. We don't use the simple future to say what somebody has already decided or arranged to do in the future. We use instead either the present continuous or "going to + verb":
 - ✓ Ann is traveling to New York next week. (NOT, "Ann will travel")
 - ✓ Are you going to watch television? (NOT "will you watch").
- 2. You can use shall instead of will for I and we:
 - ✓ I shall play football.(Or, I will play ...)
 - ✓ We shall play football. (Or, we will play ...)
- 3. 'II is the short form of will. You can say either:
 - ✓ I will go, or
 - ✓ I'll go.
- 4. Won't is the short form of will not. You can say either:
 - ✓ I will not go, or
 - √ I won't go.
